

Since January 2020 Elsevier has created a COVID-19 resource centre with free information in English and Mandarin on the novel coronavirus COVID-19. The COVID-19 resource centre is hosted on Elsevier Connect, the company's public news and information website.

Elsevier hereby grants permission to make all its COVID-19-related research that is available on the COVID-19 resource centre - including this research content - immediately available in PubMed Central and other publicly funded repositories, such as the WHO COVID database with rights for unrestricted research re-use and analyses in any form or by any means with acknowledgement of the original source. These permissions are granted for free by Elsevier for as long as the COVID-19 resource centre remains active.

Letter from the Editor, “Thank you”, Michael J. Droller, M.D.

Michael J. Droller, M.D. Editor

Dear Colleagues,

We are all now facing challenges most if not all of us had neither expected nor previously encountered.

This invisible enemy, this corona virus, has caused illness and death, created fear in all of us for our families and ourselves, challenged us in maintaining our efforts to care for our patients, and attempted to derail our educational and research efforts and activities through the stress and disruption of the life patterns we may occasionally if not often have taken for granted.

You all have undoubtedly heard this and similar messages of gratitude from the many you work with and for.

I too want to express my gratitude to our investigators, authors, reviewers, editors, production staff and publishers for their tireless and courageous efforts in behalf of Urologic Oncology.

I extend my heartfelt wishes to all of you for you to stay safe and well through this crisis.

And thank you all,