

Editor's note

I am pleased to present the fourth issue of JGH Open for 2018. In this issue, we have published six original articles—our highest number to date—two review papers and one case report. I am also extremely pleased to publish a leading article on “Fecal Microbiota Transplant (FMT) in China” from our Associate Editor, Professor Yang Yun-Sheng from Beijing, China.

I am also delighted to announce that we have received our first citation, from EBSCO, last month. “EBSCO” is an acronym for Elton B. Stephens Co whose purview includes EBSCO information services, which provides a whole range of library database services across many academic subjects, including medicine.

Our publishers, Wiley, expect several more bibliometric citations in the very near future.

Finally, I wish to remind all readers that JGH Open, through a generous grant from the JGH Foundation, will continue to waive article processing charges until the end of 2018 and we look forward to your continued support.
