

Additional file 1: Method to obtain cone percentage and cone density data. The percentage of cone photoreceptors in the retinal section was measured based on the total number of cones and the surface area of the section, while the cone photoreceptor density was calculated based on the total number of cones and the length of the line passing through the middle of the section.