Published online: 11 April 2022

Following publication of the original article [1], the authors would like to correct an error in the Statistical analyses section under the heading Method.

The sentence currently reads:

segment 2 (low score of acceptance; high score of perceived control), segment 3 (high score of acceptance; low score of perceived control)

The sentence should read:

segment 2 (low score of perceived control, high score of acceptance), segment 3 (high score of perceived control, low score of acceptance)

The original article [1] has been corrected.
