

Received: 2020.12.28

Accepted: 2020.12.28

Available online: 2021.01.05

Published: 2021.01.16

Retracted: Ursolic Acid Exhibits Potent Anticancer Effects in Human Metastatic Melanoma Cancer Cells (SK-MEL-24) via Apoptosis Induction, Inhibition of Cell Migration and Invasion, Cell Cycle Arrest, and Inhibition of Mitogen-Activated Protein Kinase (MAPK)/ERK Signaling Pathway

1,2 Pengcheng Liu

3 Ruili Du

1,2 Xin Yu

1 Department of Hand and Pediatric Surgery, The First Hospital of Jilin University, Changchun, Jilin, P.R. China

2 Jilin Province Key Laboratory of Tissue Repair, Reconstruction and Regeneration, Changchun, Jilin, P.R. China

3 Department of Clinical Laboratory Medicine, The Second Hospital of Changchun City, Changchun, Jilin, P.R. China

Corresponding Author: Pengcheng Liu, e-mail: dvx8c0@163.comRetraction Notice:*Retraction of this publication has been requested by the authors due to problems with reproducibility.

Reference:

1. Pengcheng Liu, Ruili Du, Xin Yu: Ursolic Acid Exhibits Potent Anticancer Effects in Human Metastatic Melanoma Cancer Cells (SK-MEL-24) via Apoptosis Induction, Inhibition of Cell Migration and Invasion, Cell Cycle Arrest, and Inhibition of Mitogen-Activated Protein Kinase (MAPK)/ERK Signaling Pathway. Med Sci Monit, 2020; 26: e920407. DOI: 10.12659/MSM.913069

