The list of authors for the article noted above was included as an Appendix in the manuscript, but the co-authors were not included or identified as co-authors on the submitted title page. For publication purposes, the required format is to include all co-authors on the title page of a manuscript submission. Due to the alternate submitted format, the article has been published with only one name listed as a contributing author underneath the article title.

The use of this format does not allow the contributing authors to receive credit for citations to the paper, unless an erratum is published which lists all of the contributing authors.
